

Tell the Health Secretary...

DON'T LEAVE NHS STAFF OUT IN THE COLD. START PAY TALKS NOW.

Join UNISON's campaign for a fair deal

Last year, members of UNISON and other health unions won a deal worth at least an additional £2,720 for every member of the NHS team, compared to just £1400 imposed by the Government the year before.

This was a significant step forward, made possible by trade union members standing together and showing the Government they would not tolerate an unreasonable pay settlement.

However, inflation continues to erode the value of NHS salaries and the Health Secretary must address pay properly and fairly for all of us with a significant deal for 2024. This means starting talks early to avoid health workers waiting for a resolution whilst struggling to cover the cost of living.

We, the undersigned, are joining UNISON's call for:

- Early, direct pay talks with NHS unions to avoid staff waiting months for a resolution.
- A deal for NHS workers that rewards work fairly meets the rising cost of living.
- A deal for the whole NHS team. We are one team - we work together, we depend on each other. A fair deal will ensure all NHS staff benefit and retention is improved in all parts of our health service.
